Good News for Drivers

As a result of the agitation last week against the unjustness of very severely fining parties unfortunate enough to be caught without their driver's license, an order has been issued from headquarters that this great grievance must be abated. In future if a driver, who owns a license is asked to show it and if it has been inadvertently left at home, he must be given a chance to produce it—no summons and fines. If the driver has not procured a license it is a different matter—he is a fit subject for the court. This order will be welcome, but in the meantime, thousands of dollars have been abstracted from the public and just because no one made a "bolter" before.

While an amendment has been passed by the legislature changing the fine for not having a driver's license from $5.00 as at present to a minimum of $1.00 to $5.00 at the discretion of the Justice, this amendment is not in force yet. This fine will apply particularly to those who have not taken out licenses. The amendment comes into force July 1st.

Spring Cleaning

It's in the air. If it isn't, it is high time it was. Anyway, it's a pretty safe bet it won't be glorifying the atmosphere any other time this year. That is the charming thing about spring. It only comes once a year.

Supposing it came twice a year. Wouldn't the gardens and lawns and newly-painted roofs look lovely? Wouldn't everybody be a lot happier—married life, perhaps a trifle more blissful than that most excellent of conditions is, say with spring only coming once a year. Who knows. It might be worse.

Perhaps if spring came more than once, the cleaning wouldn't get done at all. Or only half-heartedly at all. And half-hearted spring cleaning twice a year would not be half as fine a thing as a real, good, soul-lifting cleanse of one's belongings once and for all each year, whether they need it or not.

If you don't feel the uncontrollable urge, that drowsed longing, to start pulling out the drawers of your desk, hurrying papers into the air, cluttering up silent, uncomplaining wastebaskets and raking the garden, and spanking the children, and painting the chicken coop, and spreading disorder, where worse disorder was, and losing things that weren't lost and finding things that you never knew you had—well, if you don't, you can just wait—regret a couple of weeks' salary you never will. And what's more you're not human. You don't belong here. You ought to be melting the inside of an igloo with Eskimos at the north pole, or swimming with alligators or something. However, after all has been said and done—if it ever is—there is something to this cleaning up. It has to be done. Everybody knows that. There doesn't seem to be any doubt that Spring is the time to do it. Spring comes and you either do it or you don't. It is either hectorically finished then or it never is. Perhaps that's a bit fatalistic. Perhaps it should be said it very seldom is done any other season.

Reasons why spring cleaning of house and garden and everything else that ought to need it, is recognized as a good thing are set out, as follows:

It will safeguard health; it will promote thrift; it will further the cause of fire prevention; it will stimulate civic pride, and the fifth, that it will make the town beautiful.

That the cleaning campaign will safeguard health, is obvious, according to health experts. Refuse, in which germs of all descriptions breed and multiply to prey on humanity, will be done away with. There would be fewer flies to contaminate the food stuffs. It is well known that all the malignant infectious diseases are rampant where no effort is made to do away with their breeding places. By cleaning buildings, vacant lots and homes both internally and externally, they are made the more wholesome and habitable, and the general atmosphere of the city is made one of health.

Thrift will be promoted by the campaign because places that formerly were cluttered with refuse, broken down machinery will be cleared away, and can be used for other purposes.

That fire prevention, another reason for conducting the campaign will be more effective if a general clean-up is made, is not to be disputed. Spontaneous combustion, which is responsible for many devastating blazes that occur every month through the Dominion of Canada, would be less likely to occur if no material was left about to ignite.

It should be remembered from the first standpoint that 66 per cent of all those burned to death are found in dwellings, at least of half these being children under ten years of age. The majority of dwelling house fires have their origin in cellars, attics and closets, it is said. Rubbish accumulation in these places is frequently the cause, and of course it will be the work of the cleaners to see that all such accumulations are done away with.

That the clean-up will stimulate civic pride, may be said by many to be altruistic. But not by loyal citizens of Lacombe. Visitors have been known, upon first sight of its streets, to comment immediately upon the splendid civic sanitation methods.

And there is the pecuniary benefit that will result from his self-same civic pride. Better appearing properties are always factors which bring larger prices for real estate. That argument of course, will be uneasy for use with the most of home owners, whose one great pride is the cleanliness and tidiness of their homes, but it is applicable to many who are not as conscientious of the appearance or orderliness of their holdings.

Another good reason why citizens should take a part in the cleanup work is that it will make the entire town more beautiful. The tree planting of pioneers, one of the first attempts at town beautification, has resulted in those splendid trees which line many of our streets and avenues.

BRILLIANT BANKER DEAD

The death of H. B. Mackenzie, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, which occurred last week, terminates a brilliant and very useful banking career. A native of Ontario, he entered the business at the age of seventeen. He served in many capacities and his progress was steadily upward. Last year he succeeded Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor in the position which is generally regarded as one of the most important banking positions in the Dominion. He saw service in several provinces and felled Canadian bankers had a better grasp of business conditions and economic problems from coast to coast.

RECITAL MAY 9th

A recital, by pupils of Mrs. F. H. Reed will be given in the United Church, Lacombe, on Friday evening, May 9th, at 8:15 o'clock.

Madame Bolesonault, Contralto of Edmonton, will sing the French folk songs in old French costume, which so delighted the audiences in the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, on the occasion of the "Folk Song Festival" a few weeks ago. Madame will also sing two groups of English songs. For the past three years Madame Bolesonault has studied for part of the season in Toronto under Signor Carboni.

Another interesting feature of the Recital will be a "Kitchen Symphony," given by the students, dressed as cooks, and using kitchen utensils as instruments.

A collection will be taken at the door to be devoted to the up-keep of the musical instruments of the church.

ST. ANDREW'S UNITED CHURCH

Rev. R. B. Layton, B.D., Minister May Fourth will be observed as the eighth anniversary of the Union of the Methodist and Presbyterian Church of Lacombe. Rev. William Hollingsworth, D.D. of Metropolitan Church, Edmonton, will be the preacher for the day. Dr. Hollingsworth has now one of the largest congregations in Edmonton, and is a popular speaker.

The choir are preparing suitable music and will present something attractive. The offerings of the day will be for needy funds.

A large audience is expected at both services. Dr. Hollingsworth will speak at Lakeside at 2.30.

NO HEADWAY ON TEACHERS' PENSIONS

The teachers of Alberta deserve high credit for their persistency in agitating for a system of teacher's pensions. The Alberta Educational Association appointed a committee in 1925 to collect data and report. A second committee was appointed in the following year and its findings were presented to the then minister of Education, Hon. J. R. Boyle, in 1927. The scheme was later dropped on the attention of Hon. G. F. Smith and it has been brought to the notice of the present minister, Hon. Perron Baker, in four different years.

From casual observation it does not look as if much progress has been made. There is still no sign that the scheme will be adopted by the government at present. During the teacher's Convention last week, Mr. Baker was not overly optimistic. While admitting the desirability of a pensions scheme for teachers, he said the government had not yet reached any conclusion. Continued sympathetic consideration" was the best consolation he could offer.

British Columbia and Ontario adopted teacher's pensions some time ago. Other provinces are seriously considering following suit. Under the plans drawn up by the Alberta Teachers' Alliance, the annual outlay for the province would not exceed $150,000. The teachers would be required to contribute 50 per cent of the pension fund by agreeing to a 3 per cent deduction in salary.

The outstanding benefit of a pension scheme is that it produces greater stability in the profession. Men and women would remain in it if they are offered a pension at the end of their years of service. The educational system of Alberta is much handicapped by the frequent changes in teachers, many of whom remain in harness for only a year or two and then desert.

It has been estimated that if the wastage due to short term teachers was prevented in this province by raising the term of service from three and a half years to five years, and experts agree no teacher comes to his or her proficiency under five years' service, the government would be saved enough money to pay its share of the scheme. Increase the average term of service by only one third, and one of three Normal schools in the province could be closed.

In these days of civil servants' pensions, old-age pensions, credit societies and pools of many kinds enjoying government assistance, it is somewhat difficult to justify continued indifference to the application of the five or six thousand teachers in the province for assistance in giving permanence and stability to one of the finest and most important of the professions.

A MENACE TO HEALTH

Our old enemy the House Fly will soon be with us again. He never fails to come around when the warm weather arrives. To annoy people and to cause trouble seems to be his special aim in life. From the baby's face to father's bald head, to the milk picher and to the food are some of his journeys well known to all of us. Yet in spite of this, and possibly because he is so often, it is doubtful if many of us ever fully realize the danger and filthy ways of this common pest.

The house fly lays her eggs (120 at a time) in fresh horse manure. She prefers it, but she will use any heap of garbage or filth. With a very short incubation (2 weeks) period it can be seen how rapidly flies will multiply unless they are controlled. Naturally the best way to control the fly is to destroy the eggs or maggots before their wings are developed and they can move about rapidly.

Why is it necessary to destroy flies and keep them from hatching? All flies can carry disease germs; they are all filthy in the extreme. The legs of flies are provided with a great many short hairs (100) or bristles and, as the fly walks over the filth containing disease germs, some of these are collected and held by hairs. When the fly goes again to take a drink from the milk or touches food, some of the germs will be left behind in the milk or on the food. When these are swallowed later with food by the baby or anyone else, they may cause such diseases as typhoid, diarrhoea, dysentery, or other illness.

Experiments with the house fly prove that it can be best controlled by sprinkling the infested parts of the manure with a three per cent solution of Lyman's Disinfectant. One gallon of disinfectant makes 233 gallons of the solution and costs but 60c. per year per house. The solution should be applied about every second day or sufficiently often to ensure that all maggots are destroyed.

For the few that will escape this treatment, a cone trap should be employed. Placed in a sunny place, with tasty bait such as molasses and water it will account for most of those left.

Provincial Election to be Held June 19

Rumors and guesses were dispelled by fact this week with the definite announcement that the Government of Alberta has chosen June 19th as the date on which the general election will be held. The date was chosen after four months of delay—the last general election was held on June 28th, 1926.

There are reasons to believe that the election will be held on June 19th. The date was chosen after four months of delay—the last general election was held on June 28th, 1926. The date was chosen after four months of delay—the last general election was held on June 28th, 1926.

Moreover, the date of the election which is approaching, that which the political year has foretold, falls at a season convenient to the great mass of our agricultural population and not embarrassing to the followers of other lines of endeavor. There will, therefore, be little or nothing to mitigate against a good attendance at the polls and, consequently, a thoroughly representative expression of opinion whether of approval or disapproval.

Edmonton—Though the government has given 58 days' notice of a provincial general election it is expected that the campaign preliminary to the vote as far as the rural districts are concerned will be short. Before June 19th the voting date, seeding has to be completed and it is not expected that the farmers will have any time to devote to the consideration of election appeals at least until June 1st. Meetings therefor in country constituencies are unlikely to be called much before that date. The situation possible will be different in the multiple seat cities where organization is easier and the impediments of the land not so overwhelming. Meetings in general stirring among all parties in anticipation of an election has been apparent for some time and the campaign has been well advanced.

The present strength of the Legislature is 60 members, divided as follows: U.F.A. 43. Liberals 17; Labor 6; Conservatives 4.

By the Redefinition Bill of the last session, the number will be increased to 63, the addition coming by adding five seats, as follows: One in Edmonton, one in Calgary, one in Drumheller, one in Clover Bar and one in Grande Prairie. As against this two ridings are being eliminated. The southern ridings of Okotoks and High River are being combined, as are those of Nanton and Claresholm. All four have U.F.A. representatives.

The Government of the day came into power in 1921 when the Liberals administration, which had been in office since the formation of the province in 1905, was defeated under the leadership of Hon. Charles Stewart.

At the general election in 1926 the Government was again returned, this time under the leadership of Premier Brownlee, who in October of 1925 had succeeded Premier H. H. Greenwood as leader.

The campaign promises to be of more than ordinary interest. Liberals and Conservatives have been laying plans for some weeks past, while U.F.A. locals have been stirring their loins for a stirring battle.

The first heavy gun of the campaign will be fired tonight by acting Premier Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture and Health.

The Minister will address a meeting of the U.F.A. at Ground in the riding represented by A. L. Giroux, Liberal whip and rated as one of the most firmly entrenched members in the House.

The convention had been called prior to Premier Brownlee's decision on the election. Since Hon. George Hoadley yesterday issued his pronouncement for his chief interest has been keen in what are the next formal steps. The next procedure will be the dissolution of the sixth legislature, which will be done on the proclamation of his honor Lieutenant Governor Dr. William Egbert and will be done next week following the return on Monday of Premier Brownlee.

Then will come the issuing of the writs for the election. Hon. George Hoadley's statement in calling the election followed a telephone conversation with Mr. Brownlee, who at present is in Victoria. The formal notice was as follows:

One hundred million dollars reward

If all farmers cooperate to fight weeds, they will gain a collective profit of more than one hundred million dollars annually. This immense sum represents the yearly loss caused by weeds throughout Canada. It is based on the conservative estimate of George H. Clark, Commissioner of the Seed Branch, Federal Department of Agriculture.

LAST YEAR Canadian farmers suffered losses of from $250 to $2,000 dollars each because of weed conditions. Some were obliged to abandon farming altogether—so choked had the land become with couch grass and sow-thistle.

This misfortune has brought home an alarming truth—that weeds left to grow unchecked will take full possession of any farm and ultimately spell ruin for the owner.

Agricultural authorities agree that only by immediate, concerted action can farmers rid their lands of this wide-spread blight. They believe the most important thing any farmer can do is to clean up at least one field in 1939.

Weeds have already cost many millions of dollars... delay in dealing with them will cost millions more. To help Canadian Agriculture in its campaign to eradicate weeds, Imperial Oil Limited is now preparing a book which gives practical information that will simplify the job and make it successful. This book—"Weed Control"—is a companion volume to "Field and Farm Yard" which was published in 1929 and is now in the hands of 65,000 farmers.

"Weed Control" contains facts and figures collected from the experiences of weed authorities in all parts of Canada. It is not technical—but a simple, practical book dealing with the best and most successful methods of weed extermination. The Honorable Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, is its editor, and many other prominent weed authorities have contributed to its pages.

Weeds can be defeated if the job is tackled with system and patience. The reward will be bigger profits, more productive land, reduced labor costs and greater prosperity.

The successful plans and experiences offered in "Weed Control" will be extremely useful. By mailing attached coupon you can arrange for your free copy to be sent as soon as it is off the press.

In keeping with its promise during the recent session, that, if an election were to be held this summer, ample notice would be given, the Government today announces its decision to hold an election this summer with polling day fixed for June 19th.

The Government confidently believes the agreement for the transfer to the province of the natural resources will be ratified at the present session of the Dominion House of Commons, following the coming of the new session.

A year of the sale of the Northern Alberta Railways brings to a close the close of the year, facing the province in the last nine years.

In selecting the personnel and determining the policy of the administration of the natural resources a new set of problems of no less importance faces the Province for the next few years. From an administrative viewpoint, therefore, this year marks the close of one and the beginning of another era and is an appropriate time for an appeal to the people of the province.

The people are entitled to ask what Government they wish to entrust with the responsibility of administering the natural resources and in order to allow the administration an undisturbed term in accomplishing this task, considers it advisable that an election be held at once.

The Wall Builders

It is a little hard to say definitely where the trade consciousness presently abroad in the world was really born. We only know that it bore fruit in the form of a tariff wall first in the United States, an example followed with surprising promptness by other nations of the world.

The Australian Commonwealth has seen fit to impose most drastic restrictions upon the importation of certain commodities rather arbitrarily classed as luxuries. Importations have been limited by several European states with restricted markets of their own. Canadian, Argentine and United States grain is victim of an outbreak of European grain growing activity and a contemporaneous invasion of the tariff weapon in defence of the agrarian industries.

Mr. A. J. McPhail, President of the Canadian Wheat Pool, explained the situation as regards wheat recently in an address at Winnipeg and showed how Germany had recently increased its duty on foreign wheat from 61.5 cents to 71 cents per bushel; Italy had imposed a duty of 73.2 cents and France 53.12 cents. German mills are compelled by their Government to use 100 per cent of French wheat in their flour mixtures and French mills their 97 per cent French wheat. Germany and France also subsidize exports, allowing the wheat exporter to reimport a corresponding amount of foreign wheat free of duty. When it is realized, as Mr. McPhail pointed out, that Canadian wheat, sold at $1.10 at Fort William, costs the miller on the Rhine $2.15 laid down, the reason for encouraging wheat production at home and limiting imports becomes apparent. Moreover, the exceptionally high quality of the European wheat crops during the last two years indicates the possibility of getting along without much of the Canadian products. Dr. Hodra, President of the International Agrarian Bureau, is quoted as saying that "European agrarian production should be put on a basis which would eliminate overseas competition, as greatly increased since the war." The idea has been carried to the point where it is suggested that uniform tariffs be established against three wheat-exporting countries in this continent.

Although Canadian wheat is preferred by millers because of its quality, the heavy being raised against its purchase endangers the market not only in Europe but in Britain. Much of the Canadian crop exported to Britain is reshipped in addition the free market in Britain is "flooded" the "subsidized" Continental wheat, Canada, therefore, has to compete against the dumped product as well as against the more cheaply produced wheat of Argentina.

The situation being created is another argument for the encouragement of Empire preference for Empire commodities.

PROVINCE SUSPENDS PLAN FOR TAXATION OF TRUCKS

Recently passed regulations requiring the operators of freight motor vehicles to make a monthly return showing the mileage covered on the various classes of highways, and to pay a corresponding tax, on Wednesday were suspended by the Alberta government, according to a statement by Hon. George Hoadley, acting premier.

This action by the government was taken when it was found that the system of monthly returns from truck operators had not yielded results commensurate with the trouble involved. No further monthly returns will be required until such time as some other system of motor truck taxation can be worked out.

Mr. Hoadley's statement pointed out: "The problem of dealing with these freight vehicles is a very difficult one, and difficulty has been experienced in other provinces in trying to arrive at a basis of license that would deal equitably with all freight vehicles depending upon the extent to which they used the provincial highways."

"However, regulation No. 7 requiring that a return shall be filed showing the use of the freight vehicle on the different classes of highways and the payment of license fee in monthly instalments has not proven satisfactory and it is felt desirable to consider the results commensurate with the trouble involved, not only to the operator of the freight vehicle in making out the returns, but also to the department in checking up on these returns."

"A further study of the licensing of these freight vehicles in the other provinces and in the states of the union is being undertaken in an effort to work out some basis of license fee that will be fair and equitable and yet free from the irritating features connected with the present regulations."

"In the meantime, therefore, it will not be necessary for operators of freight vehicles to make the monthly return required under the present regulations."

Cutting Costs of Agriculture

"Agriculture is better organized in Canada than in any other country I visited," said E. Ward Jones, superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway's department of agriculture and animal husbandry, speaking on Wednesday to members of the Board of Trade at Calgary.

The speaker pointed out the tremendous increase in production of wheat in European countries under government aid, but gave as his opinion that the highly organized condition of Canadian agriculture would enable it to compete successfully with the aid of cheaper land, owing to the cost of fertilizers in Europe and in spite of the cheapness of their labor.

Great Britain, he said, was apparently leaving the home market to importers from Europe without dispute, being more inclined to concentrate on dairying, which is at present in a flourishing condition on the island.

Another means of combating increased production under government aid in Europe, said Mr. Jones, was to increase the use of labor saving devices on the farm and the use of larger outfits. He pointed out the results of experiments made by Dr. H. M. Wilson, of Roseman, Montana, which were made possible by a grant of $125,000 from the Rockefeller Institute. The scientist was able, by increasing the use of machinery to reduce the labor cost of wheat production from seven labor-hours per acre to two and one-half and the total cost from $18 per acre to $8.70.

"I believe we can expect still further remarkable reductions in the cost of production," said the speaker, "by the improvement of the internal combustion engine, especially by the perfection of an engine which by burning crude oil would reduce the cost of plowing to one-quarter what it is now."

"Another hope lies in the development of the group or community system of agriculture, a development which will probably come first on lands which have come into possession of large financial institutions."

Among the interesting facts that were brought out in the speech was the statement in connection with the livestock industry that the violent fluctuations of the livestock markets had prevented many farmers in Western Canada from going into that branch on a larger scale. He also informed his audience that there were fewer sheep in Canada today than there had been for 50 years, that pork is at present being imported into the country from the United States, and that in 1920 Canada supplied 25 per cent of Great Britain's imports, whereas in 1929 she supplied only 2 1-2 per cent.

Mr. Jones also compared butter exports, saying that in 1929 there was only one ton of butter exported to Great Britain for each 8000 tons exported in 1928.

OHIO CONVICTS IN OPEN REVOLT

Columbus, Ohio.—With hundreds of Ohio state penitentiary convicts in open revolt demanding removal of Warden Preston Thomas, prison officials faced the task of preventing violence after one of the most troublesome days in the history of the institution.

Development, as an aftermath of the disaster Monday night, when 318 convicts died of fire and smoke while locked in their cells, were rapid. At times it was feared that 3,000 prisoners would break for liberty.

Leaders of the men said, however, they intended only "passive resistance" until Thomas's removal. Resistance included refusal to obey orders or to work.

In the meantime, a proposal to suspend the warden temporarily was placed before Governor Meyer Y. Cooper.

Prisoners testified in Governor Cooper's investigation that Warden Preston Thomas ruled the convicts with cruelty, and that prisoners were organized to continue resistance until the warden is removed.

The convicted witnesses named guard Captain John Hall, aged 72 years for the great loss of life, saying he had failed to order release of the trapped men.

In the meantime relatives of the prison dead continued to remove the bodies from the temporary morgue at the state fair grounds. Several unidentified bodies were to be buried here today at mass funeral services. Only about half the bodies were claimed.

At the prison early yesterday morning, a revolt of several convicts was quieted, but soon thereafter the convicts in the life house, where practically all cell door locks had been broken, demanded release into the yard. Seven hundred gallons of hot coffee were served and for a short time the men quieted.

At dawn plans were made to release some of the soldiers on duty outside, but the orders were quickly rescinded and additional troops called when the unruly leaders in the life house other cell blocks, and the yard urged the prisoners to "take a chance" on a break. For a time rioting was feared.

Even the calm voices of the prison chaplains and of the more cool-headed prisoners failed to prevail.

Not until Deputy Warden J. C. Woodward spoke to the men did they calm down and announce that there would be no violence, but that they would resist the warden's rule passively.

The convicts made four demands: A commutation of sentence for John Richardson, murderer condemned to die tonight, but later in the day given a 30-day respite by Governor Cooper because the clemency board had no time to consider his case; removal of the board of clemency; an unlimited supply of tobacco; and removal of Thomas as warden.

After hearing the demands and testimony, Attorney-General Gilbert Bettman announced he would propose to the governor that the warden be suspended. No immediate action on the proposal was taken.

Warden Thomas turned the proposal "a giving away on the part of regularly constituted government to the red shirt element."

He indicated he would fight any suspension order, and claimed the clamor for his removal came from but ten per cent of the prisoners.

Realizing the seriousness of the situation within the walls, state officials sought an immediate remedy. Authorized steps were taken to transfer as many prisoners as quickly as possible to other institutions.

Among the "casualties" of the day of unrest was Ben Badner, murderer serving life for his part in the Don Mellett murder. He sought to calm excited convicts. A blackened eye was his reward. The situation in the prison yard was saved by another convict, an old 42nd division army man—who took command and cautioned against violence.

KLANSMEN AND MASKS

With the arrival of Ontario newspapers, some interesting details of the sentencing of William A. Phillips to three months in jail are gleaned. Phillips, it will be remembered was a member of the Ku Klux Klan which staged a demonstration at Oakville against an Indian who was living with a white girl. Phillips was fined $50 for participation in the affair. He appealed but so did the attorney-general of the province, the latter on the ground that the punishment was too lenient. Their Lordships of the first divisional court upheld the attorney-general and sentenced Phillips to three months in jail in addition to the fine already imposed. In giving their decision, their Lordships are quoted as saying:

The greatest calamity that can befall a country is the overthrow of the law. Without it there is no security for life or property. It is the duty of the court to protect the authority of the law and, regarding as we do the offence in question as a grave one, we are of the opinion that the monetary fine imposed by the magistrate was a wholly inadequate punishment, a travesty of justice, and we substitute, therefore imprisonment for the term of three months.

This being the first case of this nature that has come before the court, we have dealt with the offence with great leniency and the sentence here imposed is not to be regarded as a precedent in the event of a repetition of such offence.

There must be general agreement with this view. So long as the Ku Klux Klan in Canada confines itself to preaching its own particular gospel and does not follow the fashion of the organization in the United States or taking the law into their own hands, there will be little objection to it, even though its members wear hoods and bedecked, although there is a natural feeling that any one who makes his face cannot be absolved for any good purpose. In this connection it is interesting to learn that Rev. George Marshall, Imperial Wizard of the Klan in Canada, said in an interview at Belleville: "For some time I have thought of recommending that the use of masks be discontinued, but in view of this bitterness that seems to be creeping in, I think it would be advisable to retain the mask for the Klansmen's protection."

Overshadowed by the tone of steel making up the monster that has succeeded it, "Curly" as the engine is still affectionately known among veteran railwaymen, stands alongside a modern Canadian Pacific locomotive and measures only as long as the latter's cab and tender. Nevertheless, "Curly", tiny, lumpy, wood-burner of pioneer days, can claim a record seldom approached anywhere in the world for long life, usefulness and endurance.

"Curly" was brought to British Columbia in 1871 and W. H. (Bill) Evans (last), engineer of the first Canadian Pacific passenger train to reach Port Moody in 1885, says it was built in a San Francisco machine shop and later aided Count de Lesseps in the Panama Canal re-erecting the engine after a thorough refitting at the Canadian Pacific Vancouver shops, in to be exhibited at the Vancouver Exhibition in August, as a museum piece of the early days.

Bill Evans was called out of retirement for purposes of this picture and gladly donned the old overalls again to show himself once more in harness alongside "Curly".

Down Hearted and Lonely

To a widow's Grief is always added Worry. There are funeral expenses to pay; doctors' bills; and legal costs—these are the common lot.

But the farmer's widow has handicaps unknown to even the most unfortunate of her city sisters. For the seed is unown; or the crop unharvested—and that means hiring help. And there is the interest on the mortgage—and little to meet it with. And there are implements to buy; stock to purchase; seed to obtain—

Sell? But it is the wrong season, and if she moved to town, for what task is she fitted and where could she go? No! Her whole hope of comfort and independence for herself and her children is on the farm—if only there be ready money to meet the immediate need.

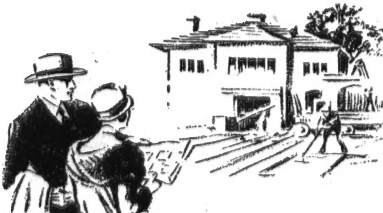

And that is exactly what life insurance provides. Here is what a Sun Life of Canada policy assures: A man of 35, by payment of a modest premium yearly (decreased every year by dividends on the current scale starting at over $65 the second year) can assure that his widow or children receive $5,000 in cash at his death and, in addition, a minimum income of $30 a month for five years while they gain experience and re-adjust themselves in the surroundings they know and love.

The Sun Life provides a policy to meet every need. Consult our representative in your district. It entails no obligation.

WHEAT SEEDING NEARLY FINISHED

Sowing of wheat on the prairies will be virtually complete in many sections by the end of this week, according to reports from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Showers of rain, which fell in sections of Alberta last week, had moved eastward into Saskatchewan and some rain was included in Manitoba's forecast for the week-end.

Rains in the Peace River district of northern Alberta, have delayed seeding in some districts, but sowing is expected to be general next week, according to a report today. At Wembley, 40 per cent. of the seeding is stated to be completed and other points indicate that the work will be resumed or started in the next few days.

In southern Alberta about one third of the wheat seeding was said to have been finished two weeks ago, when the prairies received their first spring rains. Since that time rain has fallen intermittently and in varying quantities, but many farmers have been able to continue with their work.

Weather forecasts indicate that a great deal of work will be done next week.

Reports from experimental farm stations in Saskatchewan promise that nearly all the province's wheat will be seeded by the end of the month. Average in the province, which produces about 60 per cent. of the entire crop, will be only slightly reduced if at all, it is estimated. Max acreage is to be larger, probably, with some increase in sweet clover and western rye grass areas. Moisture conditions and general status of the land in the northern part of Saskatchewan are reported as excellent, due to melting of moist snow and spring rains. Overnight, Saskatchewan was level with a full inch of rain, which will have a beneficial effect. Seeding has been general of late.

In the extreme south of the province, some areas have reported fairly substantial rains, while Swift Current and vicinity have been limited to about one-eighth of an inch of rain until Thursday's fall of a similar amount. Further rain will be necessary in the south to be of value in seed germination. Snow has been progressing rapidly after windy weather subsided.

Scattered showers in northwest Saskatchewan have prevented soil drifting which might have otherwise resulted from increased wind action, as an interruption in seeding operations. Further rain fell in this area last night, and high winds have been both more for some days. In this section, wheat is stated to be about three-quarters seeded.

Abstract opening of the season in Manitoba has resulted in seeding being comparatively far advanced. Wheat was reported yesterday to be showing above the ground in the Douglas district, near Brandon. Rain has fallen in the Morden district in southern Manitoba, for some time, but a large proportion of the seeding has been finished.

QUICK CAPTURE

A young man named R. Carr, hailing from Edmonton, wanted a car of his own, so it is alleged he purloined an auto in the city and with a friend came to Lacombe and gave the garage a once over, looking for an easy mark. He unfortunately picked on Laird Motors, and looking over their many snags picked on a Chevrolet that he considered worth the money. He proceeded to make a real financial deal, and gave a check on an Edmonton bank for the payment. "Dad" Laird was a little leary of the transaction, and phoned the city bank, and was informed that the party drawing the check had no account there, and was not known to the officials. When the young man was informed of the state of affairs, he phoned Edmonton, and had a friend make a deposit for him, which fixed the check up satisfactorily. In the meantime, however, Corp. Nalder had made an investigation, and learned that the young man was wanted for other flights into the realm of high finance and Carr and his companion were taken into custody. They were taken to Edmonton on Tuesday, where they will stand trial.

"DISRAELI" WILL SHOW AT THE AVALON

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week theatre-goers are in for a real treat. "Disraeli" is the picture and is a truly wonderful production. This is a talking screen version of the play of the same name in which Mr. George Arliss starred for four years. There is no doubt but that it will be at the head of the list of the season's finest productions and even that is faint praise for such a film as "Disraeli." SONG OF LOVE ON THIS WEEK Thursday, Friday and Saturday "Song of Love" plays at the Avalon. Bell Baker is the leading star, while little David Durand the sensational boy actor plays one of the feature roles. David's role in "Song of Love" gives him the best opportunity of his career—one that demands a wide range of emotions. In addition, David sings twice during the picture in a very pleasing voice.

GOLF NOTES

The Ladies' Golf Club Executive for this season are: Pres. Mrs. Mackay; Sec. Trs. Mrs. McCormick; Convenor Tea Committee, Mrs. Fraser; Convenor Tournament Committee Mrs. Moore; Convenor Building and House Committee, Mrs. Morrison. New members are urged to come out as soon as possible. The secretary would be pleased to arrange a game for any of the business who might like a round with an old player at first.

This season the Ladies are planning a series of teas in the attractive new club room. The first of these will be held on May 24th.

The addition to the club house of a large glazed in sun-room with a corrugated stone fireplace insures comfort in all kinds of weather. Open the porch invites every passing breeze; closed, deters wind, rain and cold. This addition is almost completed. Morrison and Johnston, Ltd., have kindly donated a new kind of roof stain sufficient for the whole roof, and N. Campbell Co. have been good enough to promise curtains. Much credit is due Mrs. Morrison who planned and supervised this building and is now trying to contrive the furnishings.

Win a Rug

Morrison and Johnston, Ltd., Norman Campbell Co., and The Lacombe Furniture Store are each giving away a Gold Seal Congoleum Rug on May 10th. There is a number hidden under a rug on display in each of these establishments and it is your privilege to enter a guess as to what the number is. The nearest correct answer will win the rug. Everyone has an equal chance to win, and if you guess closest you will be given the rug on display, absolutely free. You can enter your guess any time during the contest, but all guesses must be in by the evening of May 10th. You are under no obligation to buy. Merely get your entry form from either of these stores, write down your guess and hand it in. Should you purchase a larger Congoleum Rug than the one displayed at these stores during the contest, and happen to win the prize rug, your money will be refunded. If you purchase a smaller rug and win the prize rug, you will be paid the difference. Be sure and enter your guess—your's may be the lucky answer.

A. M. CAMPBELL'S

Officer May Collect

As we stated last week our opinion that certain costs piled up against victims who fell afoul of our town officers were excessive and unwarranted, we are glad to say that the Attorney-General's Department is of the same opinion, and in answer to an enquiry replies as follows, as to Constable's fees:—

"To attending magistrates or justices on summary trials, for each one (constable) NECESSARILY ENGAGED—only one day's fee, $2.00, on any number of cases."

The above shows that the constable is only entitled to a charge of $2.00 for court attendance in one day—not $6, $8, or $10, as has been charged, when several cases have been brought before the court. And another thing, the Attorney-General says this charge is only allowed when a constable is necessarily employed. In very few cases is a constable necessarily in a J.P. court.

We again express our opinion that Lacombe should see that our constables are stopped putting in court costs entirely. The town would gain more in friendliness from citizens, than will be gained by hold-up methods. The constable should at least be compelled to keep within the law.

Driving People Away

An instance of what occurs when a police official becomes too ambitious was forcibly impressed on our mind a short time ago. A farmer from the Clive-Alix district came to Lacombe on a shopping trip, and not being familiar with our parking laws, stopped his car in the middle of the street and went into a store. On coming out he was met by the constable, and hailed before the court, where he donated his little old $9.25. Say, was he wrothy? He surely was, and in conversation with him he advised us that he would try and make the occasion his last appearance in Lacombe. And he has kept his decision, and our businessmen are out many dollars from him, and doubtless from his friends. In this case, a warning would have been all that was necessary, and the fact that in his town, Alix and Clive, the law is in park in the centre of the street, should have been taken into consideration.

Just so long as the town allows its officers to collect court fees, just

Rural School Question

By the study of the school question which we have all undertaken in following the Minister of Education's school bill, twice hoist in the Alberta legislature, we have learned at least one thing: that the problem is no means one alone. The urgency of reform in rural school system was emphasized by Mr. R. J. Mathers, in his presidential address to the Saskatchewan Education Association this past week. The plan, he says, is inefficient which divides the province into a large number of small rural districts, each with one school and mainly self-supporting. He mentions the wide difference in wealth of the districts and suggests a larger unit of administration. It sounds familiar to us here in Alberta, does it not?

Mr. Mathers, of course, was speaking particularly of Saskatchewan and perhaps he felt that the Government of that province has misdirected a lot of energy during the past year in bending their educational reform energies toward ousting harmless enough sectarian influences instead of grappling the greater problem of bettering the system of administration.

Quite as important as this hotly debated issue (says the Saskatchewan Star-Phoenix) is the question how the efficiency of rural schools can be improved. In the turmoil of argument about sectarian points larger problem has been given too little attention: by citizens interested in educational progress. Mr. Mathers does well to return to it.

It is not denied by anyone that rural school districts are unequal in the financial resources. President Murray's survey of the Manitoba system, made at the request of the Government of that province, disclosed among other things that there is a gross disparity in the assessment values of school districts having roughly equal population and attempting to maintain schools of an equal merit. Similar inequalities exist in Alberta. No summing up more applicable to the situation in our own province could be made than that of the Saskatchewan newspaper already quoted which goes on to point out that "it must be admitted that with the best will in the world a teacher in a one-room school with 25 pupils aged six to sixteen cannot make so much headway as a town teacher with a class all in one grade. Again it is common knowledge that boards of trustees in the small school districts are often parsimonious and sometimes ignorant. The shortness of tenure of the average school teacher is another flaw in the system. When teachers succeed one another at intervals of a year or less there may be serious breaks in the continuity of the school work."

The President of the Saskatchewan Educational Association has, however, progressed a little further than the proper authorities who should have been devoting themselves to finding remedial measures and has evolved a plan which is not dissimilar with the one with which we have grown familiar. And whatever the merits or the shortcomings of the Alberta bill may be, the Saskatchewan Star-Phoenix in comparing it with Mathers' project, has this to say of it:

Mr. Baker's plan has not been favorably received by the Alberta trustees. Like the trustees in other provinces they guard the privilege of local management jealously. Still, there can be no question that Mr. Baker has the right policy, or something very like it, for equalizing opportunities in rural districts and removing causes of inefficiency.

WARRING AGAINST NEW ENEMIES

We have often been told that the great warfare of the future was to be not between nations but between the human and the insect world for the control of the earth. We are reminded forcibly of this prediction and are brought to pay more attention to it by the accounts of a recent conflict in the Sinai peninsula. It has been called the "second battle of El Arish." The place of that name was the key position for the defence of Egypt during the world war. Its recapture from the Turks at the end of 1916 solidified the Allied position in that area. It had to be defended early in present month by British troops against other enemies. These were locusts that threatened to get beyond the Suez canal and bring wholesale destruction in their train.

The Inspector-general of the Egyptian army was in command, his chief of staff was an entomologist, while the weapons were "flame guns." Trenches were dug in which the invaders were trapped by millions as they advanced in serried bands. The descriptions of the fighting are in the best style of war correspondence. They speak of the blazing trenches miles in length, the burning of the invaders, the square miles of charred locusts left on the fields. All this went on in the midst of blinding sand storms and oppressive desert heat. The onslaught was smothered with complete success and Egypt breathed more easily as a consequence.
